6/4 Church of St John the Baptist

GV II*

Church. Largely rebuilt 1891 by Nicholson and Son, with C13 remains and C16 tower. Sandstone, rock-faced except for west wall of random rubble. Slate roof. Comprises a west tower, nave, lower chancel, and west porch. The west window is of three trefoiled lights with flat head. The tower is built within the nave and rises from the west wall. It has a pyramid roof and two string courses. The upper stage has louvred bell openings with plain reveals. Below are loop openings on each side. In the north wall of the nave are two windows each of two cusped ogee lights under a pointed head with reticulated tracery. Between them is a blocked chamfered pointed doorway, possibly C13. At the right is a lancet window. The south nave wall has two windows of two lights, similar to those to the north. To the west of the porch is a lancet window. The porch is gabled and has a moulded pointed doorway. The inner doorway appears to be re-set and re-cut, and includes a keel-roll moulding. The chancel has two lancets in the north wall. The south wall has a window of one trefoiled ogee light to the right of a restored moulded pointed doorway, which is possibly C13. The east window is of three lights with Geometrical tracery. Both nave and chancel have gable copings with cross finials. Interior: the nave roof is boarded, of elliptical section with ribs and carved bosses. The chancel arch is C13, was raised and re-set in C19 and has semi-octagonal responds. The arch is pointed and chamfered in two orders. The voussoirs may be C12 and re-used. Set into the east wall are two worn coffin lids with effigies. The lead font is inscribed "WR", "WM" and "1689", with other relief decoration. It is set on a sandstone base which incorporates a C13 capital. A wall tablet to John Howell (died 1750) is re- set in the south nave wall. The chancel windows contain glass of early C20 date. A south nave window contains glass by Powell, dated 1890 (RCHM, p 5).
