the type of shops we have in ledbury - mostly expensive gifts, clothes etc are not the type of shops that people would stop using for sainsburys!and if they buy meat from the butchers they will still do so!For many of us local folks we have to go off to malvern or hereford where items are much more affordable.

Ledbury is one of the most poorly paid areas for jobs yet we have the most expensive shops. The shop keepers of ledbury appose any new venture that tries to come to Ledbury, they did not want tesco's in the Homend for the same reasons they do not want sainsburys, however Tescos has brought more people in to town.

With Homebase, LDA meats and now (hopefully)a sainsbury's it will create the start of a retail park which will encourage more people and locals to use Ledbury as a whole.
