Nature of feedback: Objecting to the application

Comment: Bromyard is a small town with a population of approximately 5000 and comprises of 5 deprived areas. Not enough consideration has been given to access via Tenbury Road and Leominster Road. The present development on the Tenbury Road has no footpath and is dangerous. Have pavements and cycle paths been included? There is very little employment in the Town and another business is leaving. The majority of residents have to travel to work by car as there is no public transport. The Pharmacy cannot cope, Doctors are stretched and Dentists are full. The logistics have not been thought through in my opinion. The only advantage for the Town would be more rate payers. I am fully aware houses are needed but who wants to come to a town which only has one supermarket, no employment and you have to travel 15 miles to work. The developers have not stated how many social housing are included.
