Nature of feedback: Objecting to the application

Comment: I frequently visit this area for holidays with friends to enjoy its rural charm, and I'm deeply concerned about the proposed development. It's frustrating to see people think they can just convert a perfectly useable agricultural barn into a home when there are plenty of affordable houses available locally. This kind of unchecked development risks turning our peaceful villages into mini metropolises, stripping away the character and tranquillity that makes them so special. We need to protect these areas from overdevelopment that the local infrastructure simply can't support.
