Good afternoon Heather,

As we are awaiting further consultee responses, we have updated the turning head to Jill requests and attached layout and tracking for your information. If yourself and Jill are satisfied with the regularised turning head I can update the remaining drawings pack now or await to see if there are any comments from outstanding consultee or yourself.

We have also, as a separate update, amended the plot numbers to follow suit with the rest of the site. If this creates a problem for you, we are happy to revert back to the original plot numbers for this application, if you could let me know what you would prefer we can accommodate either way.

Kind regards,

Emma Voyce
